NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

In accordance with the statutes (New Hampshire Laws of 1907, Chapter 147) you are requested to take measures to suppress the brown-tail moth and the gipsy moth on your premises. The law declares these insects to be a public nuisance and orders their suppression by property owners. Suppression is enforceable by law up to a cost of one-half of 1% of the tax valuation of the property concerned.

Necessary measures must be completed on or before March 20.

This notice is sent to all property owners in accordance with instructions of the Division of Insect Suppression, of the State Department of Agriculture.

The Browntail Moth

This pest is present in numbers on apple and pear trees and on many shade trees. Through the winter it occupies webs as big as a hen's egg, attached to the tips of twigs. All such webs should be cut off carefully, gathered up and burned.

The Gipsy Moth

The gipsy moth is found through the winter in the form of egg-masses attached to the trunks of trees, stones, piazza posts, or other locations. Each egg-mass is $\frac{3}{4}$ inch to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch long, is covered with fine hairs and is the color of chamois skin. Egg-masses should be painted with creosote. Scraping them off will not destroy them, because the eggs will hatch even though lying on the ground.

Obligation of Property Owners

If the insects described above are not suppressed on or before April 1, the duly constituted authorities have the right to enter upon property and to take such measures as may be necessary. The property owner will be liable for the expense in connection with such action within the limits prescribed by law.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

School opened last September with the same staff of teachers as the previous year, Miss Pingree, the primary teacher, returning for her fourth year, Miss Worledge, the grammar teacher, and Miss Bowden, the music instructor, for their second year.

We are much pleased to have been able to add Mrs. Maude Leighton to our staff as drawing instructor. Mrs. Leighton was formerly instructor in drawing in and around Boston.

Our prize speaking contest last spring for the 8th grade proved very successful. We hope to make this an annual event. We wish to express our appreciation to the teachers for their many hours of patient training to make this contest and later the graduation very successful.

The hot lunches of the winter term are proving as satisfactory as formerly.

We wish to thank the teachers and parents and townspeople for their co-operation in making the entertainment last fall in behalf of the hot lunches a financial success.

Respectfully submitted,

MAUDE E. FISKE

School Board

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Temple:

I submit my fifth annual report as Superintendent of Schools.

TEACHERS AND PUPILS

Temple is to be congratulated on its ability to attract and hold good teachers. No other factor in school administration brings so satisfactory results in maintaining school standards as retaining good teachers through a period of years. Miss Pingree and Miss Worledge are working hard and loyally and are securing very desirable results in their work, and Miss Bowden is doing all that can be expected of a music supervisor. Not a little of their success is due to the fine co-operation and appreciation of the Temple people. The town is fortunate also this year in securing the services of Mrs. Leighton for special work in drawing. It is quite unusual for a country town to be able to have the benefit of such special work.

The fine interest of the Temple people in their schools has been manifested in many ways but perhaps the most concrete expression of it is the recent organization of the Parent Teacher Association. The possibilities of this organization are very great and its co-operation with the teachers and school officers will be increasingly helpful as time goes on.

The total enrollment this year is 54 as compared with 56 a year ago. The enrollment by grades is indicated in the statistical report which follows. The average attendance for 1926-27 was nearly 2% above the state average as compared with 3% below the state average the preceding year. The record of tardiness is also very satisfactory.

Seven pupils were graduated from the eighth grade last June and six of them are now attending the Wilton High School where their standing compares very favorably with that of the other pupils in that school.

SUPERVISION

The statistical report shows 50 supervisory visits during the school year. The testing program described in last year's report was followed in about the same manner through the school year 1926-27. This year two additional types of testing are being used, one giving particular attention to oral reading in the first three grades and to silent reading in grades three to six. The other new feature is the use of the Standard Achievement Tests covering three phases of silent reading, both the computation and the problem sides of arithmetic, language, spelling, and general information in science and history. Some of the results of this group of tests were published in the school paper "Souhegan Spirit" last month, and in the list of pupils there given whose composite scores exceeded the standards of the second grade above their own grade will be found the names of three Temple pupils, which is a fair proportion for the size of the school. This group of tests will be repeated near the close of the year and will furnish a more accurate measure of progress through the year than any other data except the teacher's own daily records; consequently the results will be given considerable weight in deciding promotions at the close of the year. Progress in reading in the first three grades will be considered particularly in determining promotions as it has been demonstrated that most of the failures in the higher grades are due to deficiencies in reading which should have been more thoroughly mastered in the primary grades.

SILENT READING

The most important subject taught in school through the entire period of school attendance is Reading. Reading is the key that unlocks for the pupil the door to every other subject taught, as well as the doors to many of the activities and experiences of adult life. The aim of the school is to train all pupils to read effectively and to establish strong motives for and permanent interests in reading.

While mastery of the mechanics of reading is the chief aim of the teaching in the first three grades and instruction for this purpose is necessarily very largely oral, by far the larger part of a child's later reading and practically all of an adult's reading is done silently. Not enough has been known about the best methods of teaching the economical and effective habits and skills necessary in silent reading, either in the first three grades or in the higher grades where definite instruction is also needed.

Following a general discussion of reading methods at a teachers' meeting last October a set of textbooks especially prepared for teaching silent reading was placed in the hands of all the teachers of grades four, five and six. Since then systematic work has been going forward, and at the end of the fall term brief reports from the teachers showed that some progress had been made and that at least the consciousness of the need of such instruction was well established in the minds of the teachers and pupils. In their answers to the question as to what real gains could be seen in their classes, the following are typical phrases:

More interest, better understanding, more use of the dictionary, greater independence, more thoughtful reading, more careful observation, clearer thinking, more concentration, interest in the meaning of unfamiliar words, greater speed and accuracy, overcoming the habit of moving the lips, and a desire to read more.

CHARACTER EDUCATION

Mention was made in my last report of a special program of Character Education. This program is now in use in all of the schools and a special teachers' meeting was held early in October to discuss methods in character training. Space will not permit an adequate outline of this program but I will mention some of the salient points.

The highest type of conduct, both theoretically and according to our American ideals, is free conduct. But freedom is not license or irresponsibility. The teaching of conduct must be free and not a slavish following of outlines. The whole content of the school curriculum must be seen and presented as moral in essence and purpose. The teacher must know the principles of conduct and practice them in daily life or there will be no effective building of character. She must herself be all she expects her pupils to be. She must know the individual child and his home and community environment and must have a sympathetic understanding of the behavior of children. She must also have quickened her personal and social ideals, her moral vision, and sense of social justice.

The methods used must be varied in their appeal and in their application. She must constantly keep in mind that it is more important to teach boys and girls than it is to teach subjects.

With younger children the most useful medium for teaching character is the story. G. Stanley Hall says, "Of all the things that the teacher should know how to do the most important, without exception, is to tell a story." The child lives the experiences of the stories he hears, suffers with the evil doer and is rewarded with the virtuous, and his character is lastingly affected because he is strongly moved. The stories selected should contain a lesson, and they should be strong and true to life. Much harm may be done through stories with low ideals and also through stories of unusually good children.

For the young child moral training is largely social adaptation. He must learn to work harmoniously in a group as either leader or follower. He must not be judged by the adult standard of right and wrong for he has to be taught the adult code of social and moral behavior just as he has to be taught other facts and his standards must be built up slowly. His failure to distinguish between truth and imagination or to appreciate the importance of ownership results from ignorance, not from badness.

With older children a more systematic teaching of the cardinal virtues may be attempted, not by lecturing and preaching but by story telling, illustration and actual practice on the part of the pupil. Plato centuries ago named the four cardinal virtues upon which is based our outline today:

1. Wisdom, which embraces the topics clear thinking, open-mindedness, reverence, appreciation, and health.
2. Self-control, which we subdivide into obedience, reliability (honesty, punctuality, orderliness), and industry (thrift, initiative, ambition, perseverance).
3. Courage, physical and moral courage, duty.
4. Justice, including courtesy (kindness, co-operation, fair play, sympathy), service, loyalty, and patriotism.

In our high schools to a greater extent than in the elementary schools, intellectual attainment has been regarded as the chief aim. The success or failure of a pupil and the school has been judged by scholastic standing alone. This renewed emphasis on character training is an attempt to put in practice the conviction that all instruction has for its chief aim, Character Formation.

MEDICAL INSPECTION

The regular medical inspection last September by Dr. Pease showed the following results:

Number pupils examined	52
Defective vision	3
Defective teeth	25
Enlarged tonsils	4
Anaemia	2
Orthopedic defects	2
Nervous disease	1
Unvaccinated	1

The Wilton nurse, Miss Frye, has done some follow-up work both last year and this year.

FINANCES

The budget for 1928-1929 calls for about $400 more than last year for the following reasons:

Teachers' salaries this year amount to $62 more than was estimated last year and should be increased if we are to retain the present teachers. The salaries paid the two regular teachers are approved by the State Board and covered in the state aid allotment. A small additional amount is required for scholars' supplies to cover the cost of drawing materials. Transportation of pupils is costing $180 more than was estimated last year and the best estimate that can be given for next year is the present year's actual cost. Increase in these items will be partly met by the increased state aid allotment of about $200. We have had to add a few new desks this year and more will be required next year so $75 has been added to the item new equipment, and finally at least $160 more will be required for high school tuitions than this year, as there will doubtless be more children attending high school and the tuition rate at Wilton will be $80 per year as compared with the rate of $70 which has prevailed for some years. The average tuition rate through the state last year was about $81 and the legal limit for the current year is about $103.

In closing, I wish to express once more my hearty appreciation of the spirit of loyalty and co-operation which has been shown during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

VERNON S. AMES,

Superintendent

Wilton, N. H., February 15, 1928.
